MEDICAL HALL.
NO. 93, KING-STREET, LATE WELCH AND ELDRIDGE.
ROW AND EDWARDS, (late assistants to Mr. A. Foss, in Pitt and George streets,) beg respectfully to announce to the inhabitants of Sydney and the colony generally, that they have opened the above commodious and central premises as WHOLESALE AND RETAIL CHEMISTS AND DRUGGISTS.
The principles of their establishment will be to dispense every prescription by one or other of them personally, keeping invariably a correct copy of all recipes entrusted to their care, having in their experience in this colony frequently witnessed the evil results of young and inexperienced persons being allowed that important duty.
In addition to the above, they beg to intimate that they have purchased a supply of the choicest Drugs and Chemicals to carry out these their intentions; and they trust, by being moderate in their charges, the public will award to them a share of their patronage. 821

TUITION.
MR. EDWARD BALY informs the public that he still has vacancies for a few young gentlemen, and that parents desirous of placing their children under his charge should lose no time in doing so, as his arrangements will only allow of his receiving a limited number. Parties anxious to obtain a proof of the great advantages which young gentlemen enjoy under a system by which, instead of being classified at random, and taught en masse, in the midst of a deafening uproar, each pupil receives that individual attention which his case demands, will, upon applying to any of the parents of Mr. Baly's pupils, obtain such information as must put the matter beyond a doubt. To this practical proof of the sound principles upon which his school is conducted, Mr. Baly refers with the utmost satisfaction, as being far more conclusive than any certificates derived from other sources. He therefore considers his Oxford testimonials of minor importance, and merely alludes to them for the satisfaction of those who may deem a University education indispensable. The system above explained precludes of course the periodical distribution of useless books, and still more useless medals, which whatever may be their intrinsic value, are decidedly no criterions of improvement. Mr. Baly has reason to congratulate himself on the more substantial prizes which all his pupils bear away, in the amount of improvement they invariably make, and which they are taught to regard as of more vital importance. His system neither exhibits a medal as an inducement for a few boys to exert themselves, while the majority quietly look on, and perhaps occupy themselves in vain speculations as to who will succeed; nor does it tender a book bound in morocco or calf (the latter is perhaps the most appropriate) as a douceur to the discontented parent of an unsuccessful candidate. It compels them all, without exception, to do their best, and under such circumstances it would be invidious to particularise. It is hardly necessary to add, that upon no pretence are the name and qualifications of any boy trumpeted forth in the public newspapers, a practice, which, in Mr. B.'s opinion, is calculated, by the preposterous vanity it excites in the mind of both parent and child, to put an effectual barrier to all future improvement. The situation of No. 8, Burdekin's-terrace, is well known to be healthy, being constantly fanned by sea breezes.
TERMS PER QUARTER, TO BE PAID IN ADVANCE:—
For daily pupils under eight years of age, £1 1s.
For daily pupils, eight years and older, £1 10s.
N.B.—For the accommodation of those young gentlemen whose parents would wish them to dine at the school, arrangements for that purpose can be entered into.
Vacancies for two boarders. Terms, washing included, £7 10s. per quarter, to be paid in advance. 911

LYCEUM,
PORPHYRY POINT, WILLIAM'S RIVER.
THE LYCEUM CLASSES will be resumed on Monday, the 19th January.
134 HENRY CARMICHAEL, M. A.

SURGICAL AND MECHANICAL DENTIST
MR. T. S. HALL, Surgical and Mechanical Dentist, respectfully begs leave to inform the inhabitants of Sydney, that he has resumed the practice of his profession at 99, King-street, between Mace's and the Hibernian Printing Office, where he may be consulted daily from ten until five.
Mr. H. trusts that his former successful practice of six years, will render it unnecessary to expatiate on his ability to attend to any case entrusted to his care, but hopes that unremitted attention to the interests of his patients, will ensure him the support of the Australian public. Mr. H., aware of the fact that many persons are deterred from seeking the advice of a Dentist, through fear of high charges, thinks it expedient to publish a list of his professional fees:—

	£	s.	d.
Stopping	0	7	6
Extracting	0	2	6
Ditto to the poorer classes	0	1	0
Scaling and cleaning	0	10	0
A single artificial tooth	0	10	0

THIS DAY, JANUARY 14TH, WILL BE PUBLISHED, PRICE 8s. 6D.,
THE JUSTICES' ASSISTANT; or a Compendium of the Law relative to the office and powers of a Justice of the Peace in New South Wales, and mode of proceeding in Petty Sessions; to which is annexed a compendious exposition of the Law relating to the Duties, Powers, and Responsibilities of Constables, by
J. FRANCIS M'ARTHUR, J.P.
Sydney, W. A. Colman, George-street.

BILLIARDS.
GENTLEMEN who wish to have a game of Billiards, are respectfully informed that the best and most commodious Billiard Room in Sydney, is at SKINNER'S "CLOWN HOTEL," PITT-STREET,
everything connected with it being on the London system. The table being under a very large sky light the players are not inconvenienced by shades of cushions. Smoking may be carried on to any extent without annoyance to the players, as it instantly disappears through the sky light.
N.B.—GEORGE SKINNER'S CLOWN HOTEL, PITT-STREET. 866

SELLING OFF,
GREAT BARGAINS
TO BE HAD PREVIOUS TO AN AWFUL SACRIFICE BY AUCTION EARLY IN JANUARY.
B. L. GUION, Jeweller, Watchmaker, &c., &c., 561, George-street, opposite Bridge-street, in consequence of his leaving the colony in a few weeks, and the Shop he now occupies being let to another party, he begs to acquaint his patrons and the public that he has removed his stock to the Show Room, first floor same house, where he will for only three weeks continue selling off at extremely low prices, much under the prime cost—such as ladies' and gentlemen's gold watches, from £5 to £15, the same as have been sold in Sydney so high as 30 guineas; silver watches, levers, horizontal, and vertical movements, really good and sound, from £1 5s. to £6 10s.; gold watch guards and neck chains, from £2 to £6; brequet chains and seals, from £1 1s. to £1 10s.; gold watch keys and seals, very low; gold eye glasses, from 15s. to 21s.; gold ear-rings, rich patterns, from 10s. to 30s.; brooches, from 10s. to 40s.; gentlemen's and ladies' rings, real stones and pure gold, from 10s. to 30s.; guinea gold extra strong wedding rings, at 6s. 6d. each; and an immense quantity of fancy and useful articles, too numerous to describe.
Parties intending to give their friends presents at the ensuing Christmas would do well to take advantage of the present offer.

IMPORTANT TO ALL.

BRITANNIA HOUSE,
623, LOWER GEORGE-STREET,
Adjoining the site of the Old Gaol.
MESSRS. DAWSON AND THOMPSON most respectfully tender their sincere thanks to their friends, and the public generally, for their unbounded patronage during the period they have been in business; and with a view to extend and further accommodate their daily increasing customers, have purchased, on exceedingly advantageous terms, the entire stock of Mr. W. R. Richardson, Commerce House, adjoining the Commercial Bank, 421, George-street, which premises are undergoing extensive alterations and improvements, and will be re-opened in a few days with a complete assortment of new goods, of which due notice will be given.
The business will be entirely remodelled—the more important departments being extended, and several new departments added to the establishment; and an improved system will be introduced in conducting the business, calculated to afford satisfaction to all classes of purchasers—selling for the smallest remunerating profit, and charging the lowest cash price, from which no abatement will be made.
In order that the customers of the old establishment may participate to the fullest extent in the purchase of superior and useful goods, the whole stock at the Britannia House will undergo an extensive reduction, to assimilate with the prices at Commerce House.
662 DAWSON AND THOMPSON.

"Sworn to no master, of no sect am I."

THE COAL MONOPOLY.

Much as has been said in condemnation of the coal monopoly held by the Australian Agricultural Company, it appears clear, from the papers laid before the Legislative Council, in return to the address moved by Mr. Wentworth, that in granting that monopoly, the government of the day were influenced by public considerations. Whatever may now be thought as to the wisdom or folly of the arrangement, there seems no reason whatever to doubt that the intention was upright. "As the Company will have incurred a great preliminary expense, for a public benefit, they ought," says Sir George Murray, in his despatch to Sir Ralph Darling, of 31st July, 1828, "to have a fair opportunity of repaying themselves."

It is now about two-and-twenty years since this Company was established. At that time, compared with the present, the colony was in its infancy, and wholly unprepared for any large and adventurous enterprise. Its population did not much exceed thirty thousand souls—a number less than the present population of Sydney alone. It possessed but one bank, with a capital of some £20,000. Its entire public revenue was but little more than about £40,000 per annum. Its yearly export of wool was under 300,000 lbs.; and the yearly value of the whole of its exports below £100,000.

At this period, however, the superior character of the Australian fleece had just begun to attract the attention of the manufacturers and merchants of the mother country. To satisfy even the colonists themselves of its superlative excellence, and to encourage them to a still more vigorous prosecution of sheep-farming, a Leeds house had sent out to Sir Thomas Brisbane a piece of superfine dark-blue broadcloth, woven entirely of wool the produce of New South Wales; a present which His Excellency not only accepted, but had made into a coat, which he wore on all public occasions, and which was an object of general admiration. The interest then excited at home in the growing importance of this country, led some influential capitalists to regard it as a fine field for investment; and this occuring at the memorable joint-stock epoch, no difficulty was experienced in establishing an association for that purpose, with a declared capital of one million sterling. Hence arose the Australian Agricultural Company, incorporated by Act of Parliament and by Royal Charter. Great expectations were formed concerning this gigantic speculation, not by its shareholders only, but by the colonists generally. It was thought it would be a means of exciting a livelier and more extensive spirit of emigration to our shores; of introducing various improvements in stock and in farming; and of largely developing the nascent resources of the colony. The King's Government appear to have thought so too, and to have deemed it their duty, on public grounds, to render to the Company every reasonable assistance.

The coal-beds of Newcastle had been discovered, and worked in a slovenly and inefficient manner by the Government, some years previously to the formation of the Company. And the Company had scarcely commenced operations, when the thought occurred to its conductors that the coal mines could be worked more effectively by their means than by those at the command of Government; an opinion in which Lord Bathurst so far concurred, that in July, 1825, he agreed to grant to the Company a lease of the mines for a term of thirty-one years, on the payment to the Crown of one-twentieth or one-fifteenth part of the produce at the market price of the day. This plan was abandoned, in consequence of some objection started by the law officers; and in Sir George Murray's Despatch, above mentioned, Governor Darling was instructed to grant to the Company "a tract of five hundred acres on the banks of the Coal River at Newcastle." This land was to include the works theretofore carried on by the Government, should the Company wish it; "not as a matter of favour to them," says Sir George, "but on public grounds, for I am averse, upon principle, to the carrying on of works of this description as Government concerns." The despatch intimates that every possible facility and encouragement should be afforded to the Company in the working of the mines, in order that no scarcity of coal might take place, but that the quantity raised might be, as far as depended upon the assistance of convict labour, at all times if possible equal to the demand.

The conditions, some of them indulgent, others restrictive, upon which the coal lands were granted, cannot be better described than in the words of the despatch itself.

"It will be proper to insert a condition with respect to the five hundred acres, and any other coal land not already granted, that all such ground may be resumed by the Crown, with the permission of His Majesty's Government in England, after reference to them by the Governor, if in any year the Company shall raise a less quantity of coal than two-thirds of the weight, which on the average of three years ending 31st December, 1828, has been yearly raised from the mines which are now wrought by the Government; and a stipulation is also to be inserted, that Government shall be intitled in perpetuity to all coal wanted for its own consumption, not exceeding in any case one-fourth of the average annual produce of the mines included in the five hundred acres, to be delivered at the pit's mouth at prime cost."

Then comes the grand indulgence of which the public have been complaining:—

"As the Company will have incurred a great preliminary expense, for a public benefit, which expense they ought to have a fair opportunity of repaying to themselves, His Majesty's Government deem it proper to desire that, for the next thirty-one years, no Governor will grant or convey any Coal Mine, or land containing any Coal Mine, without a specific exception of the coal in such grant or conveyance, nor afford any assistance in convict labour for the working of any Coal Mine to any other Company, or to any individual or individuals, without the previous sanction of the Government at home; a sanction which would, probably, be granted, if the Company should avail themselves of their monopoly to impose an exorbitant price upon coal, the produce of their mines."

The period during which this monopoly is to be upheld extends, therefore, to the 31st July, 1859, being thirty-one years from the date of Sir George Murray's despatch.

Whilst we readily acknowledge that a perusal of these papers has placed the conduct of the home Government, in this matter, in a much more favourable point of view than has been generally entertained, we are nevertheless of opinion that the monopoly ought to be done away with as speedily as possible. The now great and constantly increasing demand for coal, for steam navigation, for steam manufactures, and for domestic consumption, renders it of the utmost importance that every facility should be afforded for the production of that useful mineral in the greatest possible abundance, of the best possible quality, and at the lowest possible price. It is of course far from our intention to suggest an act of injustice or breach of faith to the Company. The money-value of the unexpired portion of their thirty-one years' privilege should be fairly assessed; and the sum thus arrived at be paid to the Company out of the public funds, in consideration of an entire abandonment of this well-meant, but most odious and injurious monopoly.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Equity Side.

Tuesday.

Before Mr Justice A'Beckett.

BASS v. SCOTT AND ANOTHER.

This was a suit for foreclosure, and the usual decree was made.

FULTON AND ANOTHER v. COX.

An order for computation of subsequent interest was made in this matter.

MANNING AND ANOTHER v. RYAN AND OTHERS.

Mr. Donnelly moved on affidavit to dismiss bills for want of prosecution. Ordered accordingly.

At the close of the proceedings His Honor Mr Justice A'Beckett stated to the gentlemen of the Bar, that it would be necessary to adjourn the Court till Saturday, January 24, when he would be in attendance, and that probably would be the last time he would take his seat on the Bench in that room.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

Tuesday.

Before Mr. Justice Dickinson.

ASSAULT ON THE HIGH SEAS.

David Dring, master mariner, was indicted for having, on the 1st October, 1845, on board a certain British ship or vessel called the Janet, and within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, assaulted —. Tyde.

The prosecution was conducted by the Solicitor-General, and the defence by Mr. Windeyer.

The man Tyde, named in the information, was an Arabian, and his evidence was received through the medium of an interpreter, as was also that of two other witnesses belonging to the same vessel. From this evidence it appeared, that one Sunday, while the vessel was at sea, somewhere in the vicinity of the Island of Ascension, the coloured seamen were ordered to clean themselves, and to muster upon the deck in their clean clothes. Tyde appeared dirty, having, as he said, left his clothes behind him at Hongkong, but the Captain ordered the Serang to give him (Tyde) "two dozen." A scuffle ensued, and Tyde fled to the jib-boom, where he was pursued by the Captain and some of the crew, and the former presented a gun at him. Upon seeing this, Tyde came on board, and throwing himself at the Captain's feet, begged for mercy; but was nevertheless seized up to the ratlines, and received two dozen and one strokes with a rope's end outside his clothes.

The case for the Crown having been closed, Mr. Windeyer submitted that the case must fall to the ground for three reasons:—First, that there was no proof of the Janet being a British vessel; secondly, that there was no proof of the offence having been committed within the jurisdiction of the Court; and, thirdly, that the man said to have been assaulted was not properly described, as the assault was said to be an "assault upon Tyde," and for all that appeared in the information Tyde might be a dog, or any other irrational animal.

His Honor was of opinion that the first objection was a fatal one, and upon this ground an acquittal was directed.

UTTERING BASE COIN.

George Jones was indicted for having, on the 10th of December, uttered and put off a counterfeit shilling, with intent to defraud one Charles Ford.

The only evidence was that of Mr. Ford, who proved that the prisoner paid the shilling as a good one at the public-house kept by him, Mr. Ford; and that having had his suspicions aroused by finding a bad half-crown in the till at a time when a similar coin had been just paid in by a man in company with the prisoner, he was induced to examine the coin more carefully. No further evidence, however, was given of guilty knowledge, and the Jury, under His Honor's direction, found a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner was then discharged.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS.

Tuesday.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

A special meeting was held in the estate of Michael Gannon, in order to compel the insolvent to apply for his certificate; but as the party issuing the summons was not able to prove service of the same, the meeting was postponed till Monday, the 19th instant.

There are no meetings entered for to-day.

MEETINGS FOR TO-MORROW.

Joseph Brown, a special meeting, for the creditors to give directions to the trustees, at eleven o'clock.

Walter Stewart, a special meeting, for the trustees to resign, at half-past eleven.

At Bathurst: A special meeting will be held in the estate of Luke Crowe, at eleven o'clock.

Insolvency Business.—The Supreme Court will sit at eleven to-day, to dispose of such Insolvency Business as may be brought before it.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

A meeting of the members and friends of the Sydney Association, in connexion with the London Missionary Society, was held in the Baptist Chapel, Bathurst-street, on Monday evening. The attendance was not so large as usual on such occasions; the ladies constituted the greater part of the meeting.

The Chair was taken at seven o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Ross.

The proceedings were commenced with prayer by the Rev. L. E. Threlkeld.

The Rev. Dr. Ross said, that before introducing to the meeting the speakers who would move the resolutions, he thought proper to state that the missionary year ended in July, and the anniversary meeting would properly be held early in August, but for the last few years they had been prevented from holding their meetings at such a time, by the desire to have present some of the missionaries, who were on their way to or from the islands. He then stated that the amount of collections for the missions during the year was £53 7s. 7d.; this was a smaller sum than had been collected in former years, but this was easily accounted for by those who were aware of the exertions which had been made for home purposes. He hoped, however, that the missionary spirit would be revived, and that greater exertions would be made in the missionary cause.

The Rev. John Saunders was called upon to move the first resolution, which was—"That the claims of the heathen world upon the sympathy and aid of Christian Churches continue unabated, and that the more we become acquainted with their actual condition, the more imperative is the duty lying upon us to send to them the Gospel of the Grace of God." The reverend gentleman, in a very lengthened address, urged the necessity of increased exertions of the missionary cause. Each succeeding meeting, he said, became more important than the last, when they reflected on the brevity of human life, when they remembered what was required at their hands, and how short a time was allowed them to perform it; they were all hastening to the grave, and if they did not labour during life in the missionary cause, they would not be able to aid the cause from the tomb. If they had aided the cause, they would be able to reflect with pleasure on their exertions in their expiring moments, and might offer up with confidence the prayer "thy kingdom come." More labourers, he said, were wanting to the harvest, and there were those who were praying that their efforts might be stopped, that all their proceedings might be rendered abortive; but those prayers were not answered, and whilst they laboured in the good cause they might say—"Let them curse, but bless Thou." The exertions of those who were opposed to them should lead them to become more fervent in prayer for the help and blessing of God. It was not the barbarous savage alone that now opposed their progress, but a new power of resistance had sprung up which they must vigorously contend with. They should not forget as one after another descended to the tomb, that He was coming who had a right to reign over all; who, in a few centuries, would call them and their fellow-men to give an account of themselves. His kingdom was coming; every day it was nearer; every day the circumstances in which we were placed became more awful; and if ever missionary exertions were required, they were now more than ever before. Missionary enterprise had been sown and watered with the tears of steadfast men—it had met with the most malignant opposition. It had its literary enemies; its promoters were spoken of as fools and madmen. He would read to them an extract from a writing of a Roman Catholic Missionary who for years had been endeavouring to teach his doctrines to the Hindoos. The baffled Roman Catholic Missionary declared that it was impossible to convert the Hindoos: and he declared that the Protestant missionaries were fanatics, because they had attempted what he had failed to perform. But Protestant missionaries had effected their object. In the east and in the west the missionaries had gained a footing. At Calcutta great religious excitement had prevailed, and the Hindoos were then rallying their forces. Protestant missionaries had instituted a love of learning unto the people, and the Hindoos fearful of their religion being destroyed, were founding and endowing scholastic establishments, and searching up and down the world for learned teachers, in order that learning might be imparted without their religion being interfered with. Notwithstanding the opposition of priests and parents there were yet 618 Hindoo youth attending the missions. The reverend gentleman concluded his address by urging the necessity of contributing to the missionary funds in order to send additional missionaries into the various countries in which missionary labour had already commenced.

The Rev. W. Day, from the Navigators' Islands, seconded the resolution. The claims of the heathen world, he said, so far from being abated had greatly increased; wherever missionary exertions had been made they had been successful, and their successes augmented the claims of the heathen. He would refer to Samoa—there missionary exertion had awakened a spirit of inquiry; the mission press had put them in possession of many portions of scripture in their own language; they had been supplied with books, and they were in danger of having error insinuated into their minds; it was to the missionaries that was to be attributed the awakening of the spirit of enquiry, and it was the duty of Christians to increase the numbers and strengthen the hands of those they had sent, in order that the truth might be revealed. He was happy to see such a meeting as the present, and he hoped that the missionary cause would profit by it; when the heart was with the cause the purse-strings would be unloosed. Every Christian, he said, should look upon himself as a missionary, and the colonies particularly were called upon to support the cause. If the societies in the colonies did their duty, then their efforts would be responded to by the London Society. The reverend gentleman alluded to a former occasion some years ago when he had visited Sydney, when the Rev. John Williams was present; and concluded his address by calling upon all present to carry out the resolution to which they were about to pledge themselves.

The Reverend Chairman put the resolution to the meeting, and it was carried unanimously.

The Rev. S. Wilkinson moved the second resolution, which was—"That the success which has attended the efforts of Protestant Christians of various denominations, demands the devout expression of our gratitude to God, who while Paul may plant and Appollos water, alone giveth the increase, at the same time that it encourages us to hope that by a perseverance in the use of the many hitherto employed, he will in due time make his name known in the earth, and his saving health among all nations." The reverend gentleman dwelt at length upon the successes which he attributed among other causes to the absence of all sectarian bigotry in the Society. He alluded to New Zealand, where, he said, although some of the natives were now pursuing a course which must be regretted by every Christian, yet the effects of the labours of the missionary were not unseen, the British soldier when taken prisoner, instead of being carried into the woods and killed, and baked, and eaten, was sent back to his comrades,—this was the effect of incipient Christianity. In Africa missionaries had been successful, and the once wandering predatory tribes had now fixed homes, and cultivated the ground. The River Ganges no longer saw aged men left on its banks to be dragged in by some monster of the deep, because old age had come upon them. The desolate widow no longer ascended the funeral pile to perish in the flames which consumed the body of her husband. Little children were no longer left to perish in the woods from the effects of climate or by wild beasts, but were brought up to revere their parents. All this had been effected by missionaries; and ultimately the Gospel would triumph over every system of idolatry that prevailed in the world. The reverend gentleman concluded by urging the duty of supporting the missionary cause.

Mr. Stair, from the Navigators' Islands, seconded the resolution. He spoke of the success which had attended the mission at Samoa, which, he said, was in all respects prosperous. But he stated that the Samoans wanted more ministers, and they wanted more places of worship. He alluded to the jubilee contributions which were made by the Samoans, which this year amounted to between 6000 and 7000 gallons of cocoanut oil. They supplied the John Williams also with 800 yams, 239 fowls, and many pigs. The females were active, and devoted and liberal to the missionary cause; the males were not inactive; they had given potatoes, which realized £14 1s. 6d., and in addition to all this, 1026 articles of curiosity, such as strings of beads, had been collected, a great portion by the children, to be put on board the John Williams. The reverend gentleman dwelt upon the wants of the native teachers at some of the islands, where they were tearing their shirts in pieces in order to be able to pay for their food. He then urged upon all present to assist in carrying out the objects of the Missionary Society by their contributions—they did not require all money; but ironmongery and calicoes and prints would all be useful; and lastly, he urged them to take part in erecting a monument to the memory of John Williams, by sending to the natives the materials which they required to build chapels.

The resolution was put to the meeting, by the reverend Chairman, and carried unanimously.

The Rev. Mr. Quaife moved the next resolution, which was: "That the efforts of the Roman Catholics, sustained as they are by the military power of France, to interfere with and destroy the Protestant missions of the Pacific, while awakening our sympathy for the natives, and our indignation at their oppressors, ought to call forth the redoubled energies of all that fear God, that in the use of scriptural means these enemies of truth and righteousness may be discomfited, and their schemes overthrown." The reverend gentleman alluded to the events which had taken place at Tahiti and in other islands, and enforced upon the attention of the meeting the necessity of prayer to God for success to the Christian missions—for unceasing prayer, not for vengeance on the enemies of the religion of Christ, but that their hearts might be made to relent—lest the vengeance of Heaven should fall upon them.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, (from Hobart Town), seconded this resolution. He alluded to the lateness of the hour, stating that it was originally intended that he should move another resolution, which was, "That this meeting would encourage the Collectors belonging to this Association to persevere in the important duties they have undertaken, and earnestly invites others to come forward and unite in the exertions as well as the honour of those who are already engaged in promoting the missionary cause." With reference to the resolution which he had been called upon to second, he said that scriptural means alone must be adopted to resist error; if the advocates of false systems went with the sword and the spear as warriors, the advocates of truth needed only love, truth, and prayer, as their weapons, these were scriptural means such as only they ought to employ—such only as would be successful. If these means were faithfully used, God would assist them—would overrule the efforts of men who would oppose them, and the Church would be purified amongst the heathen. The reverend gentleman then entered at some length into the privileges of those who were permitted to become collectors for the missionary work. He referred to the various missions which were at present going on, and urged upon the collectors the necessity of increased exertions in order to render the operations of the missions still more extensively useful.

The resolution was put and carried unanimously.

The proceedings of the meeting were closed by singing "Praise God, &c.,"—and those present separated; a collection on behalf of the Society being made at the doors.

CITY COUNCIL.

Monday.

Present—The Mayor, Aldermen Flood, Broughton, Wilshire, Allen, and Holden; Councillors, Ryan, Hyndes, Thurlow, Jenkins, Smidmore, Neale, Henderson, Driver, Fisher, Sillitoe, Josephson, Hill, Iredale, Titterton, Cowlishaw, Brown, Wilkie, Agars, and Little.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read by the Town Clerk,

Alderman Flood having proposed to withdraw the amendment moved by himself, with reference to the security to Messrs. Carr and Rogers on behalf of the Savings' Bank; some discussion then arose as to whether at an adjourned meeting like the present the Council should commence business where it left off, or should go through the business paper as had hitherto been the practice, giving precedence to reports from committees, motions, &c. Upon this point the Mayor declared that although he had directed the preparation of a new business paper as had been hitherto done, his own impression was in favour of the plan first alluded to; that of resuming the business where it had been left off. A similar opinion was expressed by Aldermen Flood and Hill, and Mr. Fisher, but a contrary view was taken by Alderman Wilshire, and Messrs. Thurlow and Cowlishaw. After a good deal of conversation the Mayor took the opinion of the Council upon the point, and it was decided that the paper should be gone through with in the usual way.

LIGHTING RATE.

Alderman Wilshire presented a petition from two hundred and eleven citizens of Macquarie Ward, praying that no lighting rate might be levied in that Ward. In presenting this petition the Alderman said, that it would have been much more numerously signed if time had admitted of it.

The petition was read and received.

MARKET WHARF.

Mr. Jenkins presented a petition from the late wharfinger of the Market Wharf, praying for relief on account of the distress occasioned by the abolition of his office. To this petition was appended a certificate from a number of respectable citizens, recommending a favourable consideration of the petitioner's case.

The petition was read and received.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Several letters were read by the Town Clerk.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

Mr. Thurlow moved pursuant to notice:—"That as it appears by the Financial Estimate for 1846, presented to the Council on the 5th instant, that out of a revenue of only £4891 0s. 7d. expenses thereon are estimated at £3478 14s., a Committee be appointed for the purpose of enquiring into the nature and extent of business transacted for the Corporation by the several officers appointed and employed in the respective offices of Town Clerk, City Treasurer, City and District Surveyors; and that it be a duty of such Committee to consider the expediency of recommending a reduction of salaries or allowances, of abolishing any unnecessary office; and that they report thereon with all convenient speed; and in the mean time that the consideration of the Estimates be postponed." In moving this resolution, Mr. Thurlow dwelt strongly, and at great length, upon the necessity of retrenchment, pointing out the necessity of obtaining some information as to the duties of the Corporation Officers, and contending that it would be even better to surrender the Act of Incorporation altogether, than to endeavour to work it out at such an enormous expense. He was proceeding in support of his arguments to refer to the estimates, but after some discussion as to whether this course of proceeding was in order, the Mayor decided that the estimates could not be discussed until they were properly before the Council.

Mr. Driver seconded the motion.

Alderman Wilshire opposed the appointment of a Committee, contending that no good reason for such an appointment had been shown. In maintaining this opinion, the Alderman called the attention of the Council to the elaborate investigations which had already taken place with a view to retrenchment, and urged that the labours of the Committee could lead to no practical result, as every member of the Council should be fully aware what were the duties of the Corporation Officers, and as a natural consequence, fully prepared to consider any proposition for retrenchment.

Alderman Holden expressed a similar opinion.

Mr. Fisher supported the motion, expressing his opinion that the report of such a Committee would afford some valuable information both to the Council and the public as to the duties of the officers; although its probable result would be to show that these officers were by no means over paid in proportion to the extent of the duties which they had to perform.

Mr. Agars opposed the motion, upon the ground that the salaries of the officers would not admit of a reduction, as was contemplated by the mover.

Mr. Iredale opposed the motion for a similar reason.

Alderman Broughton said that he had no objection to the appointment of a Committee, pointed out what he conceived to be an ambiguity in the wording of the resolution, whereby an impression might be created in the minds of the public that £3478 was spent in salaries alone, whereas that amount included all expenses, the extent of the salaries being only a little over £2000.

Alderman Allen stated that he had no objection to the Committee being appointed; but he conceived that its labours would be thrown away, inasmuch as the matter would have to be discussed over again at length in the Council itself.

Alderman Flood stated that he should support the appointment of a Committee for the purpose of obtaining full information relative to the duties of the Corporation Officers, unless the Council should see fit to go into the consideration of the subject at once, by a Committee of the whole body.

Mr. Josephson supported the motion.

Mr. Thurlow having replied, the Council divided upon the motion, with the following result:—

Ayes	14
Noes	10
Majority in favour of the motion	4

The Mayor gave his vote against the resolution, stating his reasons for so doing, the principal of which were, that it would be productive of no practical good, while the duties, merits, and salaries of the Corporation officers might be sufficiently discussed when the estimates were brought forward.

Mr. Thurlow now proposed the appointment of a Committee, consisting of Aldermen Allen and Wilshire, and Messrs. Fisher, Ryan, Titterton, Henderson, Hyndes, Josephson, Jenkins, Little, Thurlow, and Driver.

Alderman Allen moved, as an amendment, that the Committee should consist of the whole Council.

Some discussion took place as to whether the amendment was in order, which point was decided by the Mayor in the affirmative. The latter amendment was ultimately negatived, and another amendment, embracing the above names, with the addition of the Mayor, was adopted.

LOANS FOR THE SUPPLY OF WATER, &c.

Mr. Hill moved, pursuant to notice, "That all resolutions of the City Council, on the subject of borrowing the £6000 referred to in the letter of Messrs. Carr, Rogers, and Owen, of date the 5th ultimo, now before the Council, for the purpose of laying down water pipes in the City, &c., be rescinded; and that it is the opinion of this Council that no such sum should be borrowed for the above purpose." In bringing forward this resolution, Mr. Hill contended that borrowing money was an expedient which ought never, except in cases of extreme necessity, to be resorted to, as it was far more easy to create incumbrances than to release them; and it would, in his opinion, be better even to levy a rate than to resort to a loan which might remain on their shoulders for ever.

Mr. Agars contended that it was absolutely necessary to borrow this money for the purpose of procuring from England a proper number of water pipes, and adopting other necessary measures for laying on a proper supply of water, whereby a revenue would be created, which would in all probability be sufficient to repay the loan in the course of four or five years. The objections urged against borrowing were in most cases based upon contracted views: for it was quite consistent with good policy to borrow for a legitimate purpose, such for instance as the work then alluded to; and it would indeed be unjust for the present generation to take vast expenses upon itself for the benefit of future generations. The Councillor concluded by moving an amendment, to the effect that tenders should be called for for a loan of £6000, for five years, at six per cent., to be secured upon the water revenues.

Alderman Wilshire expressed himself favourable to a loan, which he felt convinced would be repaid in four or five years at farthest, and in proof of this he called the attention of the Council to the large amount of water revenue in former years, even under the present imperfect system of supply. The Alderman then proceeded to move the following amendment:—"That this Council deem it of essential importance that the citizens and other inhabitants of the city of Sydney should be supplied with good and wholesome water for domestic purposes, and for promoting their health, comfort, and convenience, to the utmost extent that the circumstances of the Corporation will permit, from the Water Works in Hyde Park, and resolve on adopting the best mode or plan for increasing the supply of water for the purpose aforesaid. That considering the great number of applications that have been made to the Council for a supply of water, and which in consequence of the insufficiency of the pipes at present in use, they have been unable to comply with, and looking also to the profit and advantage which will accrue to the Corporation by the sale of such water, this Council resolve, with as little delay as possible, to lay down a main or pipe of sufficient capacity throughout every street, the inhabitants of which can be supplied with water from the tunnel in Hyde Park, in such a manner as to enable all the inhabitants of such streets to obtain a good supply of water. That looking also to the injustice that would be the result, if the money required for laying down such water-pipes were taken from the general city rate, this Council resolve to confirm the resolution of Council, of date 14th April, 1843, and borrow, by mortgage or otherwise, on the security of the corporate or water revenue, in terms of the 99th section of the Act of Incorporation, the sum of £6000 for such purpose. That with a view to carry out to the fullest extent the aforesaid resolutions, it be referred to the Finance Committee to negotiate with the Savings' Bank, or other Bank or Banks, or with any individual or individuals, for the loan of such sum of money, and to settle all preliminaries connected therewith. And that his Worship the Mayor be requested, and he is hereby authorised, to sign and affix the seal in behalf of the Corporation to any promissory note, bond, power of attorney, mortgage, or other document, which may be deemed necessary to complete the same. And that it be an instruction to the Water Committee to report to the Council, with as little delay as possible, on the best and most advisable plan of obtaining the mains or pipes so required to be laid down. That as a matter of private arrangement, betwixt this Council and its officers, the City Treasurer be instructed to keep a separate and distinct account in future of all moneys received to the credit of the city water works, and also of all moneys paid on account of the same, and that the £6000 so agreed to be borrowed be a charge on the city water works, together with the interest payable thereon, until such time as the same shall be liquidated in full; and that it be a further instruction to the City Treasurer to carry to the credit of the said account the balance at present in favour of the city water works."

This amendment was objected to by some of the members as being out of order, and the Mayor, after some discussion, decided in favour of the objection, upon the ground that the amendment involved new matter, and could not be brought forward without notice.

Mr. Fisher opposed the motion, contending that by thus negativing all its former acts, the Council would be acting with the utmost inconsistency, inasmuch as by their vote of the 14th April, as well as their reception of various correspondence on the subject, they had led the Savings' Bank and the public to believe that they were desirous of effecting this loan, and had even allowed the matter to go so far as to have an Act of Council passed for the purpose of facilitating the transaction. The receipts for the supply of water would, in one or two years, more than treble the amount of the interest which would be payable upon this loan, provided the water works were placed in proper order; and, in point of fact, it was the imperative duty of the Council to keep these works in an efficient state. This being the case, he should feel bound, in the event of Mr. Hill's motion being carried, to propose the levy of a sufficient sum for this purpose, and the economists would then become convinced of the superiority of borrowing.

During the time that Mr. Fisher was addressing the Council, an adjournment was moved by Alderman Wilshire; but was negatived on division, by a majority of two. Several members then retired.

Alderman Flood supported the original motion, contending that the scheme for improving the mode of supplying water was not based in reason, and that the proposed steam engine in particular, was one which would be wholly insufficient for the purpose it was intended to answer. He argued therefore that it would be extremely absurd to borrow money for a purpose which was not thoroughly understood.

Another motion for an adjournment was now made by Mr Fisher and was negatived, when several other members retired.

The Mayor suggested that as the resolution which was now sought to be rescinded, had been carried by nine votes, it would not be well to press the present motion to a division, unless more than nine votes could be assured in its favour.

Alderman Flood and Mr. Thurlow expressed their dissent from this opinion, as did also Mr. Hyndes; the grounds of their dissent being, that as members resorted to the expedient of retiring when they found themselves beaten, there would be no end to the discussions upon this subject, unless it was at once decided upon by those who remained.

Alderman Broughton opposed the motion, contending that the loan was one which it was the positive duty of the Council to obtain, inasmuch as it was necessary for the benefit of the citizens, and the present receipts would be sufficient to pay the interest, while the increased supply of water would produce an increased revenue sufficient for the payment of the principal in a short space of time. He also argued that it was but just that some portion of the burthen should fall upon their posterity, who would be as much benefited by the undertaking as the present generation.

Mr. Hill, in replying to the foregoing speakers, spoke in very angry terms of the members who had left the room, and contended that it would be unjust to obtain any loan which would remain a burthen upon their children, who ought to have everything, he said, as free as the air around them; fifteen-sixteenths of the mortgages effected in the country had never been redeemed, and, perhaps, never would be; it was, therefore, very impolitic for any person, particularly one who, like themselves, was the agent of another, to create incumbrances of this kind.

The question having been put, ten hands were held up in the affirmative (the other members having retired.) The Mayor then said, that although alone, he should record his vote against the motion, on the ground that there was not a sufficient number of persons present to rescind a former motion.

Some discussion arose as to whether it was competent to the Mayor to vote without being called upon; but the matter was allowed to drop.

The Council adjourned at a quarter to eight.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

(From late Australasian Papers.)

The publication of the Wellington Independent was resumed on the 26th November. The crops at Taranaki are said to be looking well.—The mulberry tree is said to grow to great perfection in South Australia.—A treadmill is being erected in Melbourne Gaol.—A new publication, called the Port Phillip Christian Herald has been established at Melbourne by the Rev. Mr. Forbes: it advocates the views of the Free Church of Scotland.—A proposal to light Melbourne with gas is under consideration.—There were only eleven declarations of insolvency in Port Phillip in the year 1845.—A number of "olive truncheons," recently imported from Marseilles, are in a very flourishing condition near Adelaide.

Clerks' Provident Society.—The first annual meeting of this Society was held yesterday evening, at the Mechanics' School of Arts, Pitt-street. The chair was filled by G. P. F. Gregory, Esq., the Prothonotary of the Supreme Court, who opened the business of the meeting by a very able speech, in which he alluded with much force to the many solid advantages attendant upon this Society, as well in a pecuniary as in a moral point of view, illustrating his remarks by pointing out the degree of wealth, influence, and importance, which had been attended by similar institution in the parent country, although those institutions had arisen from equally small beginnings. The Report from the Committee of Management was then read by the Secretary, from which it appeared that the Society had received the support of the most influential members of the community, and that its funds were in as flourishing a condition as the small number of its members would admit of; but the Committee complained of a want of sufficient support from those classes for whose benefit it had been established, and this was attributed to three causes, first to a difference of opinion among the projectors of the Institution, which had been the means of inducing many to secede from it; secondly, to a disposition among many to hang back until the Society was in full and active operation, forgetful that it was only by the number of its members it could be brought to that condition; and, lastly, to the apathetic feeling which prevailed among all classes of colonists as to a provision for future necessity; the latter cause being the most powerful of the three. After some discussion, it was determined by the meeting that as the strength of this Society was not yet sufficient to admit of its commencing full operations in respect to benefits, &c., it should be continued for six months longer, upon the principles at present acted on—no member receiving benefit. The Committee for the ensuing six months was then appointed, and votes of thanks were accorded to the Provisional Committee of Management for the past year—to Mr. Rutter, for his kindness in acting gratuitously as Consulting Surgeon—and to Mr. Gregory, as well for his able conduct in the chair as for the zeal displayed by him for the welfare of the Society. The meeting then separated.

New South Wales Auxiliary Bible Society.—The annual meeting of this association will be held this evening, at 7 o'clock, in the theatre of the School of Arts.

Sicily London particular Madeira.—We are requested to call the attention of our readers, and more particularly that of private families, to Mr. Mort's sale at his Rooms, this day, at twelve o'clock, of a very choice parcel of 55 quarter-casks rich Sicily old London particular Madeira, just landed ex Johnstons.—Communicated.

Police Court Business.—Tuesday.—There were nine cases on the drunkards list, to wit, four women and five men; two of the former were discharged, and two women were ordered each to pay 11s. or go twelve hours to the cells; of the men, two were discharged, one paid 11s., and the other two for not paying 11s. each were sentenced each to go twelve hours to the cells. There were nine cases on the summons list, one for a nuisance, postponed till Friday; one case for a breach of indentures, was arranged out of Court, as well as an assault case; one charge for a breach of the peace appeared on the list by mistake; one case for refusing to pay wages was postponed for a week; and in one case for a breach of the peace the information was withdrawn, and three cases under the Building Act, were all postponed. On the miscellaneous list there were two old cases, one of which for assault was withdrawn, and in the other, which was for a violent assault on Christmas-eve, the matter was arranged out of Court. The ten new cases were, T. Barnett for a breach of the peace, and two others, each bound to keep the peace in £10, and sureties in £5 each; a female for assaulting her paramour, was also bound to keep the peace on the same terms. A man and a female for stealing two one-pound notes, both discharged. The case of John Barker, late a messenger at the Police Office, was remanded. The girl White, was, after being heard in the private room, dismissed on the understanding that her father was to take her home. In the case of assaulting a constable, the information was withdrawn. The Court adjourned at a quarter to two.

The Court of Requests.—This Court adjourned yesterday afternoon till ten to-day, when No. 105 will be the first case called on.

Courts of Requests.—His Excellency the Governor has directed that Courts of Requests shall be holden at the town of Mudgee, and at Cassilis, for the police districts thereof, on the first Mondays, and following days respectively, in the months of February, May, August, and November.—The Court of Requests established at the Wollombi, by the proclamation dated 1st May, 1843, has been re-opened.

APPOINTMENT.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Brevet Major Ewen Macpherson, of her Majesty's 99th Regiment of Foot, to be a magistrate of the territory and its dependencies.

THE "SCOTIA."—The following notice appears in yesterday's Government Gazette:—"General Post Office, Sydney, 10th January, 1846. A Mail containing 25 letters and 18 newspapers, posted after twelve o'clock on 13th December, for Hobart Town, to go by the Scotia, having been inadvertently sent to Calcutta, notice is hereby given of the same, in order that parties interested may obviate as far as possible any inconvenience likely to result by sending duplicates. JAMES RAYMOND, Postmaster-General."

WOOL.—A few of the settlers who had previously sold their wool in Portland, have this season taken it to Port Fairy, on account of a higher price ranging there than here. The purchasers of wool, by sending it home via Sydney, will probably be able to get a higher price in the English market, than by sending through any other channel; and this accounts for the higher price being given in one place than another. But how long will such a piece of clumsy duplicity last; the wool growers in Sydney, we have no doubt, will soon begin to see that such a trick must tend to deteriorate the character of their produce, and they will take measures accordingly, to expose the deceit of passing off the wool of another district, for that of Sydney.—Portland Guardian. [The reason why the squatters wish to have their wool sent to Sydney instead of selling it at Portland, where it stands a chance of going to Launceston, is very obvious Australian wool is always from five to ten per cent. higher in the London market than Tasmanian; and as wool grown in the county of Normanby is Australian wool, we cannot see any "trick" in sending it to a port where it will go to market with its proper name and character. How can this deteriorate the character of Australian wool?—EDS. S.M.H.]

TREATY OF COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION.—Yesterday's Government Gazette contains a "Treaty of Commerce and Navigation, between Her Majesty and the King of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies. Signed at Naples, 29th April, 1845."

NATIVE WAR.—We have been favoured with a translation of a letter from a native, to the Rev. T. Buddle, giving an account of a recent collision between the tribes of Ngatiteata (Katepa), and Ngatitemaoho (Wetere), on the southern shores of Manukao harbour, about twenty-five miles from Auckland,—which, with other particulars since ascertained, enable us to lay before our readers an account of the conflict, which may be relied upon as correct. This quarrel, which we noticed some numbers back, has been fomenting for months past, and originated in disputes respecting several blocks of land on the Manukao. On Tuesday last, Wetere (or Wesley) sent a party of his men to cut a boundary that should divide the land now in dispute, at a place called Taurangarura, which having done, were returning to their pah, when Katepa's men pursued and fired upon them—wounding three of their party. The fire was instantly returned—three chiefs were shot dead on the spot, and several wounded—and then Wesley's messengers returned to their pah. Of the latter party there were three slightly, and one dangerously wounded; and of the others the slain are Te Kuri (a son of Kaihau), Poike (a nephew of Abraham of Waiuku), Reihana (a young chief of the Ngatipou of Waikato).—Toahaere, another chief, lies dangerously wounded, and several others received slight wounds. It seems that Wesley does not intend any aggressive movement, but to sit quiet at his pah and defend himself against any attack that may be made by the other party. At the commencement of this quarrel, the contending parties being very nearly related to each other, it was only considered in the light of a family squabble—and little doubt was entertained of its amicable termination; but it is no longer a dispute between relatives—the adherents of each party have been drawn into the contest, bringing with them feelings of a very different character to those which actuated the original disputants; and as some of those who have fallen in the conflict are men of rank and extensive connexions, we fear the matter will grow very serious It is said that Te Wherwhero is likely to be involved in the contest. If so, the principal part of Waikato will follow him—and a breach will be the consequence, which may require years to restore. We are no alarmists, but we are much concerned as to the probable results of this outbreak. At present it bears no affinity with subjects affecting our safety as colonists—but it has been well said that "the beginning of strife is like the letting out of waters"—they may take quite an unexpected course. We have lately heard natives express the same prospective apprehensions with reference to these proceedings at Manukao; and, therefore, we would suggest the propriety of a vigilant attention to the progress of this quarrel, lest while we are intently engaged in quelling the disturbances at the North, we should be surprised by an unwelcome visit from some of the restless spirits of the South.—New Zealander, December 13.

SIXTY-FIFTH REGIMENT.—A detachment embarked at Woolwich, on the 26th instant, in the ship Samuel Boddington, for Van Diemen's Land. The draft is under the command of Captain O'Connell, and consisted of 1 serjeant and 45 rank and file. Another draft is to embark at Woolwich on the 3rd of September, in the Pestonjee Bomanjee, consisting of Ensign Meyler, 3 serjeants, and 46 rank and file. This corps was on Wednesday, the 27th instant, presented with new colours by the lady of General T. Grosvenor, the Colonel of the Regiment, with all the usual ceremonies observed on such occasions. At three o'clock in the afternoon, the Regiment was formed in line in the square of the barrack ground, Artillery Barracks, Brompton. The old colours being in the centre of a brilliant staff of officers. On the ground appeared the principal officers of the garrison and their ladies; and as the day was remarkably fine, drew together a respectable and numerous body of spectators. Shortly after 3 o'clock Gen. Grosvenor, accompanied by his lady and the lady of Colonel Senior, with Sir Thomas Willshire, Bart., K.C.B., and Brigade Major O'Brien, of the garrison, with other officers, arriving in front of the line, was received with full military honours, the band playing the national anthem. The officers and colour serjeants then advanced with the old colours, preceded by the band playing the "British Grenadiers." The usual evolutions were next performed, and the old colours were removed to the rear. The new colours were then uncased and crossed on the big drum awaiting the consecration. This part of the ceremony was performed by the Chaplain of the Garrison, the Rev. Dr. Curtois, who delivered an interesting and most effective address, concluding by soliciting a blessing from the Almighty on the colours about to be presented to the regiment. The lady of the General then advanced and addressing Colonel Senior, the Officers and Soldiers of the regiment, expressed her confidence that under the colours she had the honour and pleasure to present, they would continue to deserve the approbation of their country by emulating themselves in its service. The Ensigns standing by advanced, when Ensign Stephen Blake, and Ensign R. B. T. Thalwall received the new colours, the Band playing "God save the Queen." The General, who is also the Colonel of the 65th, briefly addressed the regiment in a manner deserving the rank and upholding the dignity of a British officer. Lieutenant Colonel Henry Senior returned thanks to Lady Grosvenor, for the honour she had done to the 65th in thus presenting the regiment with new colours. "Those standards, madam, will constitute our soldiers' honour in whatever country the service of our Queen may lead us; but wherever we go, I promise you, in the name of the regiment, that they shall be faithfully guarded, and defended as becomes British soldiers; and (to the Rev. Dr. Curtois) I thank you for the impressive manner in which you have performed the sacred part of this ceremony. I request Sir Thomas Willshire will accept our acknowledgements for the honour he has done the Regiment in being present on this occasion Soldiers of the 65th Regiment, you heard the promises I have just made in your name, I confidently rely on your enabling me to fulfil them, by guarding these standards with bravery, with loyalty, and with discipline." The ceremony having been concluded, the Regiment closed ranks, and marched pass the General in slow and quick time, and was then dismissed. Its strength consisted of 1 Lieutenant, 1 Colonel, 1 Major, 4 Captains, 7 Subalterns, 4 Staff Officers, with 24 Serjeants, 12 Drummers, and 330 rank and file. The Officers of the Regiment repaired to the Sun Hotel, Chatham, where a superb dinner was provided for them; covers were laid for twenty-six, in the large and elegant room of the hotel. Colonel Sir Thomas Willshire and Brigade Major O'Brien were among the visitors on the occasion. The band of the Regiment were present, and played at intervals many new and fashionable airs. The gallant General presented the officers on this occasion with a magnificent gold vase, standing nearly two feet in height, for the service and ornament of their mess-table. The non-commissioned officers, as well as the men of the corps, were regaled at the General's expense with a good and substantial supper. The General and his lady left Chatham yesterday for Woolwich.—United Service Gazette, August 30.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR

(From our various Correspondents.)

MORETON BAY.

JANUARY 7.—SHOCKING MURDER BY THE BLACKS.—The community has been thrown into the greatest alarm and consternation;—a most diabolical outrage having been committed on the station of Messrs. Ferriter and Uhr, on the River Brisbane, only about twenty-five miles from the township of Ipswich, whereby the life of Mr. John Uhr, brother of C. B. Uhr, Esq., J.P., became a sacrifice to these savages. From all the particulars of which I can learn, it appears the unfortunate gentleman was at an out-station about three weeks since, at which place he had a flock of sheep, and although the blacks had been troublesome some time previously, no personal danger was apprehended by any person. At the time Mr. Uhr was in the hut the blacks went in, and it is supposed wanted Mr. Uhr to give them tobacco, &c., and upon his refusing they commenced helping themselves, this, no doubt, was resisted by the unfortunate gentleman, and the consequence was he was attacked by the whole body of them and murdered: after treating the body with the greatest indignity, the wretches threw it into the river, which ran close to the hut, they then made off; after plundering the place of a great quantity of sugar, flour, tobacco, tea, &c. A shepherd who was in charge of the sheep was I hear near sharing the same fate as his master, but having a gun in his hand they were intimidated, and made off to the hut, where the man followed them, but not in time to save Mr. Uhr from falling a victim to their cruelty.

The late seasonable rains have done an immense deal of good to the district. Stock of all descriptions were never in better order, and the wool teams continue to pour their golden contents into the township. The brig Skerne, which came up the river on the 5th from the Tweed, were she had been trying to obtain a cargo of cedar, without success, is now loading at South Brisbane with wool, stored by Mr. Peterson for the Eliza Kincaid, but that vessel having remained here her lay days, sailed on the 27th ultimo for Sydney. The schooner William arrived at Kangaroo Point on the 6th, having had a tedious passage from Sydney, owing to the prevailing north-east weather. The surveying schooners Bramble and Castlereagh, I hear, are in the Bay.

We had some very good boat races at the Christmas holidays,—the good folks at Kangaroo Point catering for the public amusement on Boxing-day, and the inhabitants of North and South Brisbane on New Year's Day. Mr. John Campbell's boats, belonging to Kangaroo Point, won both the prizes pulled for on the first day, and Mr. T. H. Green, of South Brisbane, had the pleasure of seeing two of his boats, the Rover, a four-oared one, and the Fair Jane, a two-oared funny, win in both matches; Messrs. Campbell's and Green's boats are matched to pull for the championship on the Anniversary day, upon which day those who can feather an oar may have an opportunity of trying their muscle in some of the matches, which I understand are to be got up for the occasion. On the whole the holidays passed off in a very quiet creditable manner.

A poor fellow employed on the station of Messrs. D. and F. M'Connell, was unfortunately drowned whilst bathing on the 23rd ultimo; the body was subsequently recovered, and decently interred by his master, his remains being followed to their last resting place by most of his fellow-servants.

Lieutenant Seymour and a party of nine men belonging to the detachment stationed here, started up the Brisbane a day or two ago, for the purpose of getting hold if possible of some of the blacks who were known to have been at Mr. John Uhr's murder; a party of civilians I hear has also gone out for a similar purpose. At the Messrs. Archer's station the blacks have been spearing the cattle, as also at Mr. Mason's, on the Pine—this latter gentleman informs me that the black vagabonds merely kill the cattle to get at the inside fat; several of his bullocks were found by him speared, and afterwards hamstrung, after doing which they merely made an incision in the ribs to get at the kidney fat, and then left the carcass to rot.

The wool continues to arrive very fast, all the vessels now here will get loaded for Sydney, and scarcely make room for that now on the way down. If the Shamrock makes a trip down here as reported on the 12th, she will clear off a little of that now in the Company's store.

I omitted to mention that the body of Mr. Uhr was subsequently found, and decently interred by his relatives and friends.

The sports and festivities of the holiday times are nearly over with us, and considering the scattered nature of our population, we have witnessed our share of fun; aquatics were in the ascendant, and from the splendid advantages this pretty river possesses for that manly amusement, no wonder such sports should attract attention. I trust by next Christmas some of the amateur oarsmen will get a few good four-oared gigs built; at present our matches are mostly confined to small boats: however what is wanted in means is amply made up by the will shown in the contests. The regatta on Boxing-day was got up by the good folks in the locality of Kangaroo Point, and there being some jolly good fellows amongst them, the various matches were well contested, and the prizes run for were subsequently spent with right good feeling; and however the disciples of Father Mathew may have been put to the blush in seeing such quantities of the raw material consumed at the Bush Inn on the Point, I am sure the worshippers of the jolly god never conducted themselves with more propriety and good feeling than on that occasion, one little exception only, and that merely originated from a son of Colombia having given vent to his highly excited feelings rather forcibly in favour of the stripes and stars, under which colour the winning boats were pulled.

The first match was between whale boats pulling five oars, for a purse of £6;—for which contested. At starting the Ninga Ninge took the lead, and kept it for about a mile, when in consequence of one of the crew knocking up, the Sam Slick was enabled to give her the go-by, and come in winner without further competition.

Mr. Campbell's Sam Slick
Mr. Richards's Ninga Ninge

The second match was for a prize of £5; pulled by two-oared funnies, viz.:—

Mr. Campbell's Hero
Mr. Wade's Surveyor
Mr. Gray's Fanny

The Fanny was the favourite at three to two, but the knowing ones were all abroad, for the man wot owns the Fanny found his age told too plainly that it wanted younger blood to bring his Fanny back triumphantly to the scene of her departure. At the termination of the race the Hero enjoyed the post of honour; the Surveyor coming in a good second. Several other matches were run, but none of sufficient interest to call for any remarks. On New Year's Day the inhabitants of North and South Brisbane got up a similar affair, but a party who had been foolishly permitted to collect money for the sports became a defaulter, and consequently the races were curtailed: the races came off as follow:—

Mr. Green's two-oared funny Fair Jane.
Mr. Gray's ditto Fanny.
Mr. Wade's ditto Surveyor.
Mr. Campbell's ditto Hero.

First boat to receive £4, second boat £1 10s. The Hero from having won the prize so easily on Boxing-day, and the previous New Year's Day, was backed to win, but fortune found another favourite in the Fair Jane; one of the pullers in the Hero knocked up, and consequently abandoned the race; the contest was between the Fair Jane and Fanny, but the former ultimately gallantly bore away the principal prize, poor Fanny being compelled to bow to the superior qualifications of her fair rival.

The next match was for a purse of £5, between four-oared boats, for which

Mr. Green's Rover, and

contested, if a match can be called a contest wherein one boat's-crew has it all their own way from the commencement—the Black Joke had no chance, and gave up when half-way.

The Hero and Fair Jane are matched to pull for £10 on the Anniversary day, and as both the boats were built by the same person, the struggle for first place will be arduous, more particularly as four stickers are about to pull.

The good people at Ipswich kept up the holidays in character—fun of all sorts was well supported, and the two bonifaces reaped a golden harvest from lads of the whip, who mustered pretty strong on the occasion.

WINDSOR.

HORSE STEALING.—It is remarkable that although horses are at the present time at an almost nominal value, yet no fewer than three suspected robberies of them have taken place during the last ten days in the neighbourhood of Windsor. On New Year's Day Mr. Robert Stewart lost (supposed to have been stolen) from the Peninsula Farm, a black Clydesdale mare, for the recovery of which he has offered a reward of five pounds. About the same time Mr. William White, of Stanwix Park, had a young mare stolen, and he has likewise offered a reward of five pounds, on conviction of the offender. And on Saturday night, the 3rd instant, a horse was stolen from the farm of Mr. James Hill, of the Kurrajong—Mr. Hill has offered a reward of one pound, on recovery of the stolen animal. It is to be hoped that the felons will ere long be detected and brought to justice.

During the last fortnight we have noticed, with much gratification, several large teams loaded with staple produce (wool) pass through Windsor intended for immediate shipment at Sydney for London. The wool is the property of Robert Fitzgerald, Esq., J.P., and we believe is of a very superior quality.

HAWKESBURY SUBSCRIPTION RACES.—Pursuant to notice, a public meeting was held on Thursday last, at Higgerson's, Bird-in-Hand public-house, Richmond Road, for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements for the ensuing races, when it was unanimously agreed to, that races should take place on the Windsor Race Course, on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the 8th, 9th, and 10th days of April next, for the prizes stated in the advertisement in yesterday's Herald, to which we refer our readers. Mr. Andrew Badgery, who acted last year, was appointed judge, and the following persons were proposed and agreed to as stewards, namely, Messrs. George Seymour, William T. Baylis, W. G. Burgis, Thomas Onus, and Benjamin Richards; Mr. John Barker was appointed secretary and treasurer. It was stated, during the meeting, that the ensuing races were likely to be much superior to those of former years. The excellent young stud of the late Mr. Charles Smith, which were lately sold, being expected to contest the prizes; and stabling having been engaged for fifteen horses, (five of them belonging to Mr. Badgery,) which are intended to be brought into action. The meeting subscribed the sum of forty pounds to begin with towards the funds, and the active and unremitting services of Mr. Richard Sherriff were secured to canvass for further subscriptions, which, we doubt not, will be raised with that liberality of spirit which characterises the inhabitants of the districts of the Hawkesbury.

POLICE OFFICE, TUESDAY.—Before Robert Fitzgerald, Esq., J.P., and L. D. Whitaker, Esq., J.P. Mrs. Norah Yates, a ticket-of-leave-holder, was charged with stealing a jacket, the property of Henry Yately. It appeared that Yately left a bundle on Saturday, the 3rd instant, under the care of the prisoner at her cabin in Fitzgerald-street, from which bundle she took out the jacket in question, and went immediately afterwards and pawned it for sixpence to get a glass of grog. The bench ordered the jacket to be delivered to its owner, and gave Mrs. Yates one month's imprisonment, besides cancelling her ticket.—James Rogers and William Campston were brought up charged with stealing a silver watch and gold ring from John Rose alias "Jack the barber." The case as to the watch could not be substantiated, neither could any case be made out against Campston, who was accordingly discharged As to the ring, it appeared from the evidence that on Saturday, the 3rd instant, Rogers was at the barber's receiving the benefit of a shave; Rose happened to go to the door to do something, when during his absence Rogers took the liberty of examining the contents of a box on the premises belonging to Rose, and from which he (Rogers) abstracted the ring in question. Soon after this, Rogers left the barber's, and went to Morgan Carroll's public-house, accompanied by Campston, where, after indulging pretty freely for some time, Campston asked him for his money to take charge of for him, when out came along with it the gold ring. Mrs. Carroll having been watching the prisoners, at this instant recognised the ring as belonging to Rose, she having sold it to him some time before, and Rogers not giving her a satisfactory explanation of how he came by it, she gave both the prisoners into custody. The bench committed Rogers to take his trial at the next Quarter Sessions.—Cornelius Burke, holding a ticket-of-leave, was dealt with summarily for having, on the 1st of January instant, been taken in the act of attempting (no less than twice) to abstract money from the till of Mr. Walter Blanchard, of the White Hart. It appeared that the inmates, with the exception of Mrs. Blanchard, were all drawn out of the house to see some scuffle that took place in the street, when the prisoner, who was intoxicated, attempted to commit the robbery, and which he would have done had he not been detected. The prisoner was sentenced to exercise on the treadmill for one month, and had his ticket cancelled

HAWKESBURY AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.—A general meeting of the inhabitants of the district is advertised to take place at Coffey's Hotel, on Thursday next, at twelve o'clock, for the purpose of considering and approving of the rules of the Association, very kindly prepared by the Hon. Sec. Francis Beddek, Esq., for the appointment of its officers, and for making arrangements for bringing about the next show meeting, when we hope a crowded assemblage will be present. A committee meeting was called to take place on Friday last to arrange the preliminaries for the general meeting, but we regret to state that in consequence of only part of the committee attending, an adjournment was obliged to take place until Thursday next, the day of the general meeting. We sincerely trust that such apathatic conduct as that displayed at the committee meeting will not occur at the general meeting, but that the well wishers and inhabitants of the district of the Hawkesbury will give that attendance which so laudable an object as the Association has in view merits.

COURT OF REQUESTS.—The Court of Requests for this district commences its January sittings on the 26th instant The last day for issuing summonses for the £30 jurisdiction was on Tuesday, January 6, when only seven were entered. The last day for issuing for the £10 jurisdiction was on Thursday last, when one hundred and two summonses were taken out. This is decidedly the smallest court there has been in Windsor for many years, which circumstance is in a great measure attributable to the present heavy fees compared with formerly which are exacted for summonses, many poor persons wishing to sue not being able to afford them.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the partnership hitherto carried on under the firm of Armstrong and Sharp, Veterinary Surgeons, in Castlereagh-street, Sydney, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All accounts due to, or by, the late firm, will be adjusted by Mr. Armstrong or Mr. Sharp, either of whose receipts will be valid.

Witness our hands, this 31st day of December, 1845.
JOSEPH ARMSTRONG,
T. P SHARP.
Witness—THOMAS S. HALL 694

MR. JOSEPH ARMSTRONG, Veterinary Surgeon, having relinquished the business of the Boiling Down Establishment, begs to apprise his patrons and the public that he purposes in future to devote his whole attention to the duties of his profession, and begs to solicit a continuance of that support which has been so long accorded to him.

The plan of giving advice gratis every morning from eight to twelve o'clock, on the diseases of those horses regularly shod at the Repository, having given general satisfaction, will be continued, and some alterations in contemplation, having for their object increased accommodation in the Hospital Department, will, it is hoped, meet with approval.

TO THE PUBLIC.

REFERRING to an advertisement in the Sydney Morning Herald, of date 31st December last, whereby the public are cautioned against giving credit to me on account of my husband, John Kingsmill, I consider it due to my character (lest the public may be deceived by the advertisement in question) to inform them, that I was compelled to seek the protection of the magistracy, from Mr. Kingsmill's violent conduct towards me, and it was only through fear of my person that I was compelled to live apart from him, with the slender pittance of ten shillings a week. I have not incurred any debts on Mr. Kingsmill's account, nor is it my wish to do so. All that I require is, a sufficient maintenance, which my husband refuses to allow me. The public, I trust, will perceive by this explanation, "that I am much more sinned against than sinning."

BY MR. STUBBS,

At the Mart, King-street, on WEDNESDAY NEXT, 21ST DAY OF JANUARY, 1846,
At 12 o'clock precisely.

MR. STUBBS notifies to the public, that the above commodious premises, with all the benefit of its present flowing business,

WILL BE SOLD ON WEDNESDAY, 21ST INSTANT, TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER.

DESCRIPTION OF THE STORE, KNOWN AS

"COMMERCE HOUSE,"

"Extensive store, with stone foundation, brick walls, two feet thick, stuccoed in front—

"Shop 30 feet square, 12 feet in height, elegantly fitted up, with counting house, counters, shelves, drawers, bins, glass cases, parlour adjoining, 12 x 18, bed room opposite, passage, &c.

"Large dry-goods store above, and two bedrooms—cellar the whole size of the building, solid stone, 7 feet high, bricked yard, with detached kitchen, pantry and servant's room, wood shed, the whole completed within the last two years, of the best materials and at an economical outlay of £1200."

As "Commerce House," will really be sold, Mr. Stubbs would respectfully submit, that at a time when the consignments of goods exceed the wholesale demand, it behoves the intelligent Import Merchant to secure the purchase of such retail stores as those of the above establishment, offering as they do, a channel for the disposal of their general merchandise to the people of the southern districts, of no ordinary kind.

Terms—Half cash, and the remainder at 3 and 6 months without interest.

MAGNIFICENT RUN ON THE DARLING DOWNS;

TOGETHER WITH

1225 HEAD CHOICEST CATTLE.

MR. MORT

Has been instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,

ON FRIDAY, THE 20TH FEBRUARY,
At 12 precisely,

THE following Lot of quiet well-bred CATTLE, viz.:—

128 Bullocks, 4 years old
353 Cows
359 Steers
377 Heifers
8 Bulls.

1225 Head, more or less.
(Calves under six months being given in.)

TOGETHER WITH WHICH WILL BE SOLD,

The right to that most luxuriant highly valuable run known as

TUMMIAVILLE,

On the Condamine River, and distant from Brisbane 120 miles.

REMARKS ON THE ABOVE CATTLE AND STATION.

With reference in the first place to the cattle, it must be observed that they are bred from bulls selected without reference to cost from the herds of Messrs. Cox, Wentworth, Jones, and the Agricultural Company, and the whole are unquestionably quiet.

The bullocks, as also a large number of the cows, are fit for the butcher, or for boiling down, and would no doubt yield a very large amount of tallow, the distance to the boiling establishment being short, and the feed good all the way. It must not be forgotten that the cows have all been milked, an extensive dairy having all along been kept on the establishment.

As regards the station, it is beyond the powers of description, it can be properly known or appreciated by personal inspection only, the following remarks may, however, give a tolerable idea of it.

Its extent is about twelve to fifteen miles square, its pasturage most luxuriant, and its water abundant to superfluity, having in addition a magnificent sheet of water four miles long, and two hundred yards broad, thirteen miles frontage to the Condamine River, besides being intersected by several creeks, varying from five to fourteen miles in length.

IT WILL CARRY 15,000 TO 20,000 SHEEP, AND 2000 HEAD OF CATTLE.

THE IMPROVEMENTS UPON THE STATION ARE AS FOLLOW, VIZ.:—

An excellent verandah shingled cottage, containing six rooms, all floored, besides kitchen, &c., and surrounded by a garden enclosed in paling fence.

Another Verandah Cottage, containing 4 rooms floored, with kitchen and store; also a garden fenced in.

Two large stock yards.

A most excellent dairy sunk under ground.

Cultivation and grazing paddocks, enclosed by a substantial three-rail fence.

☞ The different parts of the run are more particularly adapted for sheep or cattle, and one portion might, from the peculiar way in which the river forms its boundary, be made at a trifling cost into a most extensive paddock.

N. B.—The whole of the farming implements—dray, bows, yokes, plough, harrow, dairy utensils, &c., &c., will be given in.

Terms liberal, at sale. 912
